Logo Design Guide

A complete brief for the logo designer — everything explored so far, the brand system it must live in, what worked, what to avoid, and the deliverables we need.

PREPARED JULY 2026 · WORKING DRAFT — BRAND NAME ARCHITECTURE STILL PROVISIONAL

Green, gold, ivory — and two hours of the day.

The website runs a two-theme system: Day (warm ivory) and Dusk (deep teal). Every logo candidate must work on BOTH grounds — that is the first test.

The lockup

Mark above (or left of) the name. Spelling is exact:

J.VARDHAN
LUXE WEDDINGS & EVENTS

Wordmark face: extended bold grotesque (Archivo Expanded on web; Monument Extended acceptable in print). Descriptor: small caps, wide letterspacing, gold. Tagline used separately: "Promised. Planned. Delivered."

Voice of the brand

Premium but locally grounded · warm, family-led, culturally fluent · operationally disciplined · visually rich, never gaudy. The stationery register: high-contrast serifs, fine gold line-work, quiet luxury — never black-and-gold glitter.

It must be a Gir lion, or no lion at all.

The brand is from Junagadh — the only home of the Asiatic lion on earth. A generic lion throws that away. Every lion drawing must carry authentic Asiatic field marks:

- Short, sparse mane — a neck ruff, never a big flowing African mane
- Ears clearly visible above the mane
- Longitudinal belly fold — the skin fold unique to Asiatic lions (one line is enough)
- Lean, longer body; pronounced tail tuft — we like the tail ending in a leaf/bud shape as a quiet nod to the flower trade
- Calm, guardian bearing — dignified, watchful; never roaring, never hunting
- No crowns, shields, laurels or European heraldry
- No jewellery-style diamonds or gems
- No gold-foil textures, gradients or 3D shine — flat colour only
- Must NOT resemble the Gujarat Tourism lion (orange block-print side profile)
- No faux-Devanagari styling on Latin letters

Also required before any final: reverse-image + trademark search (monoline lions are a crowded category), and a clear visual distance from other planners' marks.

Four lions, each shown on both grounds.

V0 DRAFT — SUPERSEDED

Walking Monoline Lion

Elegant but generic (template-style pose, African mane hints); thin strokes fail at small sizes. Keep only as reference for line weight/colour.

CURRENT MASTER EMBLEM

Floral-Mane Lion (Option A)

The family's marigolds and mogra woven into the mane — the most OWNABLE idea we have. Currently the website hero mark. Needs a cleaner vector redraw; too detailed for tiny sizes (that's the icon's job, below).

EXPLORED — MANE TOO AFRICAN

Guardian, Flowing Mane (Option B)

Right pose and solidity; wrong mane. Superseded by the short-mane version but shows the solid-shape language we like.

CURRENT SMALL-SIZE ICON

Guardian, Short Mane (Option C)

Cleanest at 32px — currently the favicon, header icon and footer watermark. Needs refinement: calmer muzzle, tighter 3-shape ruff, leaf tail-tuft.

Earlier rejected directions (from the first agency round): a champagne gate-and-stars arch on navy (elegant but generic hotel-luxury) and a pale mint "V" gem mark (read as jewellery/spa, not events).

One lion, four jobs.

We are not choosing one logo — we are commissioning a small family. Detailed emblem for big moments, reduced icon for small ones, same animal in both.

PIECE	BASE DIRECTION	WHERE IT LIVES
Master emblem	Floral-mane lion, redrawn vector, max ~12 bold shapes	Website hero, deck covers, signage, invitations
Small-size icon	Seated short-mane guardian, ≤10 shapes, reads at 24px	Favicon, app icon, embroidery, stamps, watermark
Roundel seal	Guardian inside two plain rings, name arched around	Social avatars, wax-stamp print, packaging sticker
Horizontal lockup	Icon + thin gold rule + two-line name	Website navbar, letterhead, e-mail footer

Alternate mark ideas

Worth sketching: lion beneath a slender toran archway (we build gateways); a Girnar twin-peak horizon with a half-marigold sun (no lion) as a secondary crest.

Style keywords

Flat vector · single gold #CFAA6D · consistent stroke logic · hand-engraved warmth in monoline discipline · Indian miniature-painting curve rhythm · museum restraint.

One-colour law

Every piece must survive: one-colour gold, one-colour teal, reversed ivory-on-dusk, black-and-white photocopy, and embroidery thread.

What we need back.

Files

- Vector source (AI / SVG / EPS) for every piece
- Full lockup + mark-only, each in: gold, teal, ivory-reversed, single-black
- Transparent PNGs @ 2048px and 512px; favicon 32px test export
- Clear-space and minimum-size specification sheet
- One embroidery-ready simplified version

Scorecard (each candidate, 1–5)

- Distinctive — could no other planner wear it?
- Gir-true — anatomy + Junagadh soul
- Small-size survival — honest 24px test
- Both-grounds test — ivory Day and teal Dusk
- Craft link — flowers / gateway / drape present?
- Trademark-safe — search done, distance kept

Note: brand name architecture (J.Vardhan vs. legacy Mali Mukesh endorsement) is still provisional — design the marks so the wordmark could change without redrawing the lion.
